Elkins Comes to Defense of Levy On Bond Owners

Little Rock Broker Declares Bondholders Have Substantial Stock

CITES BOND TOTAL

Gasoline Notes Counted, Though Not Secured by State Assessables

M. W. Elkins, Little Rock bond broker, admitted in a statement published in the Arkansas Gazette Wednesday morning that he was attempting to obtain cash equal to one per cent of their holdings from Arkansas highway bond owners to put over an anti-bond amendment next fall.

Details of Mr. Elkins' "one per cent plan" were revealed in a Hope Star editorial Tuesday, an advance copy of the editorial having been furnished the Gazette by mail Monday night from Hope.

In his statement from Little Rock, Mr. Elkins repeated the statement originally made in a letter to an out-of-town bondholder, that Arkansas could still legally issue 18 million dollars' worth of highway bonds a year, although state officials said that Act 15 of the last special session prohibited any further issues this year. Mr. Elkins' letter had been written May 2—more than two weeks after Act 15 went into effect, April 14.

The Little Rock broker sought to justify his "one per cent plan" against the bondholders by saying that Arkansas' net direct obligations now total 107 million dollars, or 8.71 per cent of the assessed valuation of real and personal property in the state, said to be the highest ratio in the nation.

Other authorities point out, however, that this ratio is robbed of most of its significance by the fact that the great bulk of the state's direct debt, the Martineau highway note issues which equal $2 million, is guaranteed not by the assessable values of the state, but by the income from the gasoline tax.

Rephan to "Dress Up" Vacant Store

Will Use Busy Store Windows—Returns to Star Advertising

A move to decorate vacant store windows with up-to-date handbills from going concerns, "dressing up" the downtown business section in a manner already undertaken in the larger cities, was inaugurated Wednesday by E. I. Rephan, proprietor of the New York Store.

Mr. Rephan announced that he had made arrangements with J. P. Brundage, owner of the store location on East Second street formerly occupied by the Busy Store, to use the display window of that building for the showing of new stocks of the New York Store, whose location is on the opposite side of Second street.

Mr. Rephan has also signed a large-volume advertising contract with Hope Star, returning to the columns of this paper for the first time since December, 1930. T. J. Miles, Jr., long connected with Texas mercantile establishments, is Mr. Rephan's new advertising and store display manager.

His return to newspaper advertising, Mr. Rephan said, was occasioned by the performance of Hope Star "copy" in 1929 and 1930. He will open his newspaper campaign without circulars dropping this feature upon which he had depended in the Hope territory last year, confident that newspaper space is the most reliable and effective form of store advertising, he said.

Charles W. Kendall Dies Tuesday Night

Until Recent Illness Was City Pound Master for Several Years

Charles W. Kendall, aged 61, died in a local hospital at 10:45 o'clock Tuesday night following a stroke of paralysis.

Mr. Kendall was well known here, having lived in Hope practically all his life, and for a number of years served as pound master for this city. Funeral services were held at Hope Furniture undertaking parlors at 4 p. m. Wednesday, conducted by Rev. George F. X. Strasser, Catholic priest. Burial was held in Rose Hill cemetery.

Novel Heroine In 5-Mile Drop

Export Debenture Rejected, 46 to 33

Offered as Rider on Revenue Bill—Result Is Not Final

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The Senate decisively shut the door of the billion dollar revenue bill Tuesday night to further tariff revision by rejecting the export debenture farm relief plan. Senator Norris, Republican, Nebraska, offered the debenture amendment after protesting against the oil, coal, copper and lumber import taxes voted by the Senate in the tax bill, but his counter tariff move lost, 46 to 33.

Senator Robinson of Arkansas, the Democratic leader, helped defeat the attempt by warning that the vital budget balancing bill faced indefinite delay and perhaps might even force a veto by the tariff items.

The roll call was not a test on the farm relief issue as a result, Robinson has supported the export debenture relief proposals in the past.

Two Hope Attorneys To Attend State Bar

Mayor Walker to Face Investigators On Several Charges

Appears Before Committee Wednesday to Answer Charges of Graft

ACCUSATIONS GIVEN

Seven Charges Pertaining to Affairs of his Office to Be Investigated

NEW YORK—(AP)—Mayor James J. Walker took the witness stand Wednesday as an investigation of his administration by the Hofstadter legislative committee, which has been running nearly a year reached its climax.

He signed a waiver of immunity without comment.

He met Samuel Sonbury face to face in a verbal duel that may alter the national political scene. National interest will be attracted to the Hofstadter legislative investigation when the dapper mayor of New York at last confronts the painstaking attorney with an explanation of his financial dealings in the past six years and a defense of charges of graft and corruption in the municipal administration.

Newspapers have forecast that Sonbury will ask Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt to remove Mayor Walker on the basis of evidence collected over more than a year and that the governor will deliver his decision before the Democratic National Convention meets next month.

Governor Roosevelt is pictured by political authorities as being faced with a delicate decision if called on to take action—if he should unseat Mayor Walker he would face increased enmity from Tammany Hall; if he should not he might lose the support of some of his followers elsewhere.

Accusations Listed

Mayor Walker, whose income tax returns for the years 1928, 1929, 1930 and 1931 are under scrutiny by federal authorities, faces the following principal accusations:

That he accepted a $25,535 gratuity in the form of bonds from a Wall Street house which was financing a taxicab company seeking favors of the city administration.

That he paid a share of his ex-

Kiwanis to Visit Patmos on Friday

Hope Club to Continue Good Will Tours Until Mid-Summer

Patmos will be visited by the Kiwanis Good Will trippers Friday night, May 27, for the third of a series of county events of this kind. Musical events are to be the feature of the program, which will start at 8 o'clock, and which will be held in the school house in that community. W. S. Atkins, Hope attorney and member of the club, is to be the principal speaker. Each of the larger community centers of the county will be visited by the club, each Friday night from now until July 15.

Film Head Admits Deals in Own Stock

The one being questioned was Harry M. Warner (left), who rose from a shoemaker's bench to riches as head of a great film corporation, and his chief questioner was Senator James Couzens (right), who was a coal company bookkeeper before he amassed a $60,000,000 motor-car fortune. The picture was taken during the Senate banking committee's investigation of stock exchanges, when Warner admitted that he and his brothers had traded in the stock of their own corporation, Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc. Additional testimony revealed their profits to have exceeded $7,000,000 in 1930.

Kidnap Victim, 11, Points to Abductor

Jimmie DeJute Identifies One of His Kidnapers as Tony Lauri

WARREN, O.—(AP)—Tony Lauri, 37 of Youngstown, Tuesday was pointed out by Jimmie DeJute, 11, of Nines as one of his kidnapers and the state made arrangements to bring him to trial specially.

"John Doe" indictment on this trial Wednesday will be served with a "John Doe" indictment returned some time ago and will be tried possibly next week, Prosecutor G. H. Birrell said.

Birrell will demand the maximum penalty of life imprisonment, the punishment already meted out to Dowell, a graves, also of Youngstown.

The DeJute boy, son of a wealthy Niles contractor, took just one glance at a line-up of five men in the county jail, pointed at Lauri and said "That's the man."

A. B. Banks Will Ask For Pardon

Has Not Abandoned Hope of Escape From Serving Prison Sentence

FORDYCE—In a statement issued here Tuesday, A. B. Banks, former leading financier of Arkansas announced that he would ask Governor Parnell for a full pardon from the sentence of one year in the penitentiary imposed following his conviction in circuit court at Little Rock of a charge of having received deposits in the American Exchange bank of that city when he knew it to be insolvent. The sentence was affirmed by the Arkansas Supreme Court and Banks surrendered to Sheriff Williams in Little Rock Saturday as the result of a stay of sentence until June 15 granted by Governor Parnell. At that time, the governor indicated that he would not grant further clemency to the convicted ex-financier.

The statement follows: "My conviction and sentence to the penitentiary has been a crushing experience. I could not have borne it except for the knowledge of my innocence, the loyalty of unchanging friends and the consciousness I was sustained by Divine Providence. "If the governor should not heed the plea hundreds of men and women who sincerely believe my conviction is a travesty and finally decides a must wear the stripes of a convict, I shall go without bitterness. "As matters now stand, I am faced with the early prospect of a cruel injustice at the hands of the state which I have served honorably for 64 years and which I shall continue to love whatever the final issue of my case. "It has been suggested to me that

Black Slays Negro Woman Who Is Witness in First Slaying

MEMPHIS, Tenn.—(AP)—A report to Memphis police said that Deputy Sheriff Jim Carlton of Forrest City, Arkansas, was shot to death by a negro near Round Pond, Ark., on highway number 70 early Wednesday. The first information indicated that the negro had been arrested by the officer and it is presumed that he killed him with the officer's own pistol.

A negro woman, who is reported to have witnessed the shooting also was killed by the negro, police here said they were told.

Oil Case Witness Is Not to Return

Attorney for Henry M. Blackmer Pays Fine for Refusal to Testify

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Despite a settlement of income tax claims totaling approximately four million dollars and the payment of a sixty thousand dollar contempt of court fine, Henry M. Blackmer, missing witness in naval oil trials does not plan to return to the United States. This was made known Wednesday when an attorney for the government paid a fine for Blackmer's refusal to testify for the government in the teapot dome trials of Harry Sinclair and Albert Fall.

Relief Measure Is Approved in Senate

Senator Robinson One of Sub-Committee Drafting Appropriation Bill

WASHINGTON—(AP)—A two billion three hundred million dollar Democratic bill for unemployment relief and the revival of industry was laid before the Senate Wednesday with the approval of the combined Democratic, Staccard and Policy committees. The compromise measure was approved unanimously at a joint session of the committees.

Senator Robinson of Arkansas was one of the sub-committee members, drafting the bill which proposes an allotment of three hundred million dollars under the present capitalization of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation for loans to the states and direct relief to jobless, a billion and one half dollars in the capitalization of the corporation for loans for self liquidating construction of public and private firms and a bond issue of half a million dollars for public works.

Questions Right Highway Audit in Previous Dealings

Charges False Impression Created by Commission Chief Auditor

RECORDS AVAILABLE

Objects to Information Deals Prior to Being on Highway Board

LITTLE ROCK—(AP)—The right of the Highway Audit Commission to require into his connection with improvement districts, prior to time he became Highway Commissioner, was questioned before the audit commission by Justin Matthews, a lengthy statement Wednesday. Matthews charged that J. A. Renick, chief auditor of the commission, questioned various witnesses to create an unfavorable impression, concerning kMatthews' dealings with the districts.

Matthews said he had made all records available to the auditors, stating the fact that he questioned the authority of the commission.

Information concerning the purchase of his companies of various bonds and notes of road districts in the Little Rock area, were given in a statement which Mr. Matthews said: "The bonds asked about here, were bought before I became a member of the Highway Commission, many years several years before, and I can see how it in any way pertains to the audit or the investigation of the highway department."

Discrimination Is Charge of Laborers

Protest Against Hot Springs Workmen Charged at Meeting

HOT SPRINGS—Over 700 local laboring men Tuesday packed the Circuit Court room and gallery at a meeting called to protest alleged discrimination against Hot Springs labor by the National Construction Company of Washington, D. C., which has the contract for building the new $1,500,000 Army-Navy General hospital. Before the meeting John Copeman, general superintendent for the company, issued a statement in which he said that three companies now engaged in filling subcontracts are employing 120 local men and 40 non-residents. Copeman pointed out that in a number of instances it was necessary to employ "key men" who were affiliated with the companies and that such positions could not be filled by local labor. He denied any attempt by the National Construction Company or any other company having a contract in connection with the hospital to refuse local labor positions when it was possible to employ Hot Springs men.

Addressing the meeting Mayor McLaughlin, Municipal Judge Vern E. Sedgewood, County Judge Charles H. Davis, C. J. Horner and Chairman Will F. Lake. The latter's suggestion that men who get employment be generous enough to divide some of their time with other fellow workmen met with approbation. A committee consisting of Mayor McLaughlin, Judge Davis, Bert Goodwin, P. L. Bone, representing unskilled labor, V. H. Holloway, union labor, and Roy J. Cross, American Legion, was appointed to confer with Copeman. The committee will meet Wednesday morning in Mayor McLaughlin's office.

Events in the life of pretty, 19-year-old Cherry Dixon who became the "leap year bride" of Dan Phillips, newspaper reporter, unreel like a screen drama. Cherry is the heroine of the new serial beginning in this issue of The Star on page 6.

Fraud Denied By J. Lan Williams

Highway Commissioner Says He Entered Into No Conspiracy

OSCEOLA, Ark.—J. L. Williams, St. Francis Levee Board president, entered into no conspiracy with his son, B. Frank Williams, to defraud the Georgia Casualty Company of $40,000 through fraudulent issuance of a bond which secured the levee board's deposits in the defunct Bank of Osceola, and the charges were brought by the bonding company to provide a basis for transfer of the case to Chancery Court, in order to avoid a jury trial, it was said here Tuesday night by C. B. Segraves, attorney for Mr. Williams and for the levee board, to whom Mr. Williams referred queries.

The charges were filed in a cross bill in circuit court here Monday in answer to a suit brought by the levee board to collect funds amounting to approximately $38,000 lost in the defunct Bank of Osceola, and secured by a $40,000 bond issued by the Georgia Casualty Company through its agent, B. Frank Williams of Little Rock, who is a son of the levee board executive.

The St. Francis Levee Board will rest on its original pleadings and seek collection under terms of the board, Mr. Segraves said. The position of neither Mr. Williams nor the levee board has changed since the original filing of the suit, he said. The case will be heard at the September term of Chancery Court.

Circuit Judge Noll Kilgough granted the casually company's motion to transfer the suit from Circuit to Chancery Court here Monday.

Expert Discusses Poultry Marketing

First Part of Year Prices Are Usually Higher White Declares

The general practice of marketing fowls when prices are high is followed by producers in Arkansas. This period is during the first part of the year, usually from February until September. At this time of the year money is needed to meet current expenses involved in making a crop and in supporting the farm family. Therefore, it is a good time to market a part of the farm flock. If for no other reason, farmers are justified in marketing fowls during the spring and early summer, because of relatively high prices and the good body condition of birds at this time. Poultry producers should consider such holidays as Easter, First and Second Passover, and other Jewish holidays in marketing their poultry because of these days, states E. D. White, assistant Extension economist in marketing of the University of Arkansas College of Agriculture. A list of these holidays may be secured from poultry dealers or from county agents or county home demonstration agents.

Sending birds to market by auto or truck is very satisfactory. They arrive on the market in a short time, in a healthy, vigorous condition. In preparing birds for market, it is best not to overfeed them. A moderate amount of feed is preferable, and it is best to feed only soft feed on the day they are to be sold. Fowls should be carried from the farm to market in coops or homestead crates or boxes. The practice of tying fowls together by their feet should be discouraged. It often causes temporary paralysis.

Last year, county home demonstration agents in Arkansas held 247 leader training meetings which were attended by 6,282 persons.

Twelve-Year Sleep Ends With Death of Farmer

GOLDSBORO, N. C.—(P)—An illness that kept E. A. Pate, 57, in a condition resembling slumber for 12 years ended Tuesday with the death of the well-to-do farmer at his home near here. Stricken when he was 45, Pate resisted all efforts to arouse him, except to an extent sufficient for him to eat sparingly at meal times. Physicians diagnosed his illness as a form of sleeping sickness.

Kreuger and Toll Into Bankruptcy

Director Arrested, Board Head Ordered to Stay Within Reach

STOCKHOLM, (P)—Erik Sjoestrom, a director of Kreuger & Toll, was arrested Tuesday after the parent company of the vast Kreuger interests declared itself bankrupt. Nils Ahlstrom, managing director of the company, although not arrested, was requested to remain at the disposal of the police.

Sjoestrom was a close collaborator of the late Ivar Kreuger, whose suicide in Paris March 12 was followed by disclosures of a virtually hopeless tangle in his world-wide financial operations.

Kreuger & Toll filed a petition of bankruptcy Tuesday under a law especially passed to safeguard the interests of its creditors.

The match king, considered by many the greatest financial genius of his time, died owing $168,300,000. The committee found that fictitious assets were set up on the Kreuger & Toll books since 1924.

Buckeye State's Co-Ed Star

Popularity of Shakespearean drama never wanes while such co-eds as Virginia Ferree, Columbus, Ohio, pictured above, hold leading roles. Miss Ferree will play the part of Helens when Ohio State University students present "Midsummer Night's Dream," celebrating the fiftieth anniversary of the founding of the university's Browning Dramatic Society. She is president of the society and has starred for three years in productions.

A Lesson From 1929

Most every day something happens to give us a clearer vision of the sort of civilization that we had in this country before the 1929 crash.

Most recent were the tales about easy money in Wall Street, told to the Senate committee in Washington by a series of witnesses.

These stories make a strange, rather surprising picture. The Raskob pool, it seems, cleaned up $5,000,000 in a group of other traders organized by a free-lance through an operation that netted the free-lance a million five weeks, although he had not put up any of his own money. Another company whose stock was being manipulated by a pool managed to pay out dividends of $1,500,000 on profits of $1,000,000.

And so it went. High finance seems to have been just a bit higher, in those gay days, than most of us ever knew. Now that it is too late, we are learning things. We are learning, for instance, that our famous prosperity had a hectic, unhealthy tinge to it. It was too turbulent, too feverish; it made us lose sight of the fact that what is apt to come down, sooner or later—with a bang.

It will be a good thing if we can keep all of that in mind. We are very apt, these days, to long wistfully for a return of the bright days of 1928 and 1929, to look back on the prosperity of those years as something to which we must turn just as soon as we have found out how to clamber out of this depression; and the days of easy money are not, really, returning to us.

For those days paved the way for these days in which we are suffering now. The time when a group of clever market manipulators could knock off $5,000,000 a week, the time when a trader could clear a million without investing a cent of his own, were directly responsible for the time of 8,000,000 unemployed.

When we look ahead to prosperity, let's look ahead to a kind that won't strew as much easy money about Wall Street, but that will be a little bit more enduring.

Amelia's Flight

AMELIA EARHART seems to have made good in a very big way on her claim to the honor of being the first woman to fly the Atlantic.

It is quite a while since she first gained fame by crossing the sea in a ship flown by the late Wilmer Stultz and Gordon. But that achievement was probably never quite as satisfying as it might have been. After all, she had been a passenger. The stunt took courage, but it did not stamp her as a great flyer.

Now, however, the triumph is complete. Utterly alone, she has conquered the Atlantic, hanging up a record that no other woman flyer and hardly any men have yet equaled. The flight testifies abundantly to her capacity as an aviatrice.

The Pot and the Kettle

THE newspapers of France have made the Lindbergh tragedy an occasion for reminding their readers that nothing happens in the United States can be very surprising. They have been calling this country "the land where Capone king," and have been asserting that it is "under the tyranny of redoubtable and impudent bandits."

There is enough truth in these accusations to make any American blush, certainly. We do not seem in the least able to cope with our underworld, and some shocking things happen to us every so often.

But no nation has a monopoly on crime. Even in France terrible things can happen. It is not, for instance, so very long since France buried a president who had been murdered while in office; and the crimes of Landru, the notorious "Bluebeard," are not so very far in the background.

Only the Strong—

THE death of the two scientists on the high slopes of Mount McKinley is a tragic reminder that the climbing of lofty mountains is one of the most perilous sports that the world offers to adventuresome men.

It isn't a sport that draws a great many adherents, since most of us do not live close enough to high mountain peaks to be able to indulge in it. But in all countries—in the United States, in England, in Germany, in Canada and elsewhere—there are little groups of men to whom mountain-climbing is a sport of sports.

To climb far above timberline, drained of bodily strength by the rarefied air, hewing paths out of solid ice, crossing crevasses on bridges of snow and struggling up an icy trail to heights that only two or three other human beings have ever visited—it is a thrilling and venturesome sport. Only the strong dare attempt it.

Conflicting Stories of Murder Told

Two Farmers on Trial on Charges of Slaying Two Men

MEMPHIS, Tenn.—(P)—A sheriff and one of his deputies testified Tuesday that Isham G. Harris told them conflicting stories concerning the death of two men, for one of whose slaying he and James Callis, a farmer, are on trial.

Before Harris had led officers to the body of J. D. Smith, 64, Sheriff William Bacon said Harris told him Callis killed both Smith and Earl Sheridan, a negro.

Deputy Sheriff Jim Gus Galloway said that while other officers were inspecting Smith's body, Harris told him he and Callis killed the elderly farmer. He denied killing the negro, Galloway said.

Galloway and Deputy Sheriff W. H. Key said that although it had rained the night of the killing, Callis' clothes and shoes were wet when they found him at Harris' home, intoxicated. Harris' muddy clothes, which the officers said were wet when they arrested him, were introduced as evidence. Callis has asserted he took no part in either killing.

Arkadelphia May Seek River Transportation

ARKADELPHIA—It is probable that Arkadelphia will affiliate with the Mississippi Valley Association to obtain river transportation by way of the Ouachita river to Arkadelphia. Merchants and other business men of the city met Tuesday night to hear John A. Fox, field secretary of the association, discuss the project, which he said looked practical for Arkadelphia, which he regarded as most favorably located to become an inland water port.

The Ouachita is an easy river to equip with locks and dams and on which a uniform depth may be maintained, Mr. Fox said. He cited the stationary banks and lack of shifting channel as other favorable features. The Ouachita is already an adopted government project with transportation now in force to Callon and Camden. Three locks and dams might be needed between Camden and Arkadelphia, he said.

Cheats Gallows; On Trial Again

Once saved from the gallows by Missouri's supreme court, Paul H. Kauffman (above), 30, is on trial the second time at Kansas City, charged with luring 17-year-old Alvin Woolery (below), of Carthage, Mo., to Kansas City by promising her a job, attacking and strangling her, and burying her body in a city park. His second trial was ordered after the first jury doomed him to hang.

Union Homecoming To Be Held June 26

All Former Residents of Nevada Co. Community Urged to Attend

The annual homecoming for former residents of the Union Church community in Nevada county will be held on the fourth Sunday in June according to an announcement from the committee in charge of the arrangements for the occasion this year.

A homecoming program, and church service is being prepared for the affair.

The devotional service will be conducted by Quimman Mitchell. At 11 o'clock Rev. J. W. Erwin will deliver the homecoming sermon. The singing will be conducted by John Bates of Waldo.

All former residents of this community are urged to attend, where old friendships will be renewed and new ones formed. At noon a basket dinner will be served.

"Bonus Army" Continues Journey by Automobile

CASEYVILLE, Ill.—(P)—A motor caravan of World war veterans Tuesday night took up a march on Washington to urge upon Congress immediate bonus payment. They thus resumed a transcontinental journey from Portland, Ore., which began two weeks ago by train.

The trail trip ended here early Tuesday when the nearly 400 ex-soldiers surrendered a Baltimore and Ohio right train on which they had hoped to ride to their destination.

While the veterans waited for the arrival of trucks and automobiles provided by St. Clair county and the East St. Louis, Ill., American Legion post, to carry them to Washington, Ind., six companies of Illinois National Guardsmen were concentrated at East St. Louis, a dozen miles away from the "Bonus army."

The troops found no demand for their service, so orderly was the assembly of the unemployed veterans.

NASHVILLE—Tomato plants are moving in express car lots from Nashville to large growers of the North and East. The equivalent of four carloads also has gone out in less than carload lots. Cool nights and lack of rain are retarding the growth of the plants.

MOTHERS! If Your Child Is Kept Out of the School Swimming Tank Because of Athlete's Foot

What Are You Doing About It?

Are you trusting to the teachers and the school nurse to cure him? Or are you seeing to it yourself that he gets the proper medication?

Are you taking measures to safeguard the rest of the family—including yourself from infection? Athlete's Foot, remember, is very catching.

See that your child soaks his feet thoroughly with Emerald Oil BEFORE and AFTER his bath, and that he treats his feet with it regularly every night and morning.

Don't let him run around barefoot, especially in the bathroom. Sterilize the tub after him, and the bathroom floor. Don't let him put on any one else's shoes or stockings. Boil the sheets from his bed.

Have the rest of the family use plenty of Emerald Oil on their feet as a precautionary measure. Use it yourself.

One bottle of Emerald Oil is guaranteed to end every symptom of Athlete's Foot of money back. Ward & Son and all other first-class druggists sell it with that guarantee. Adv.

Boy's Curiosity Cause of Alarm

Shoves Arm Into Drain Pipe of Sprinkling System of Building

LITTLE ROCK—An inquisitive newsboy, curious about the drain pipe of a sprinkling system on a building near Capitol avenue and Main street and a burning beef stew, which filled a house with smoke, caused two alarms received by the Little Rock Fire Department Tuesday.

The boy, whose name firemen did not obtain, shoved an arm in the drain pipe. A gate valve in the end of the pipe admitted the arm readily, but when the lad tried to withdraw his arm, the valve closed. Pedestrians discovered his plight and called the firemen.

The beef stew, which firemen described as being "well done," had been left on a gas stove in the home of Earl Hefner, 4103 West Twenty-first street, as members of the family left for the evening. At 9:30 Tuesday night neighbors saw smoke issuing from windows of the home and called the firemen. Company No. 3 responded.

Helena Officers Wound and Capture Negro

HELENA—Blue West, young negro, under indictment for burglary, who escaped from jail several weeks ago, was shot and captured by Sheriff F. F. Kitchens and deputies on the Old Town plantation, 18 miles south of Helena. Deputy Sheriff Fred Bling was forced to shoot the negro, who refused to submit to arrest. He was shot through the hip and brought to the Helena hospital, where a physician said he probably would recover. He is charged with having burglarized a Cherry street haberdashery last winter.

Memphis Girl Held at Camden, to Return Home

CAMDEN—Miss Margaret Houston, pretty 18-year-old Memphis girl, who left home Monday without telling her mother, Mrs. W. D. Houston, where she was going, was stopped here Tuesday night by police. She was aboard a southbound Cotton Belt bus when Camden police received a telephone request from Memphis officers to stop the girl. Her mother asked that the girl be held until she could arrive here.

Miss Houston was taken to the home of Chief of Police and Mrs. Pat Greening, as a guest.

Drowns Trying to Swim Across River

Donald Trowbridge, 17, Loses Life in Stream Near Nashville

NASHVILLE, Ark.—Becoming exhausted in an attempt to swim the little Missouri river, 12 miles north here, Donald Trowbridge, 17, drowned about 4 p. m. Monday despite efforts of two companions to save him.

Five other Nashville youths were in the party. They were Odell Morris, 16, and Fred Posey.

Trowbridge, followed by the others, had started out into the water to swim across the river. He became exhausted in eight feet of water and could not keep his head above water. He was pulled back to the shore by his companions. Morris and Kates began pulling him toward him (spite his out) "keep back, this water is too deep."

He had gone down once when they reached him and all efforts to save him failed when he fought them off they attempted to seize him. The youths used grappling hooks to recover the body.

Trowbridge is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. S. Trowbridge, Nashville, two sisters, Mrs. Fielding Kenney, of Dallas, and Dorothy Trowbridge, of Nashville, and a brother, Kenneth, also of Nashville.

Funeral arrangements had not been completed Monday night.

Veteran Hurls Child to Death—Ends Own Life

NEW YORK. (AP)—A man threw a 10-year-old girl from the approach of the Manhattan bridge to South Street 200 feet below Monday, and then jumped after her. Both were instantly killed. A letter found in the child's pocket indicated he was Roy Henry, a World War veteran, who lived in Brooklyn. He was about 35. Identity of the child was not immediately determined.

Two laborers were walking along South Street when the boy of the yellow-haired child, clad in flowered pajamas, landed in the roadway. Looking up they saw the man climb the parapet and leap to his death.

FRIEND SAID I WAS CARDUI

A FEW years ago, I was in miserable, run-down condition," says Mrs. M. M. Mett, of 805 Albany Ave., Waycross, Ga. "I was so weak, I could hardly go. I was nervous and all out of heart, getting very discouraged with my condition.

"A friend of mine, seeing how miserable I was, told me to try Cardui. I have never ceased to be grateful, for I felt better from the time I began taking it.

"I kept on taking Cardui until I felt well and strong. I was less nervous and was soon enjoying good health."

Sold at drug stores.

Curtis Said to Have Admitted Lindbergh Stories Hoax

I never knew such people that I named to Colonel Lindbergh and they were deceivers of a distorted mind, with the exception of Morris Thomsen, who had no connection with the crime.

I exceedingly regret that I named Colonel Lindbergh and others any inconvenience and wish it were in my power to correct my wrong.

In justice to my wife and two children I trust that it is in the power of Colonel Lindbergh to forgive the inconvenience, worry and injustice I did him in his time of grief.

This statement has been brought about by the realization of the wrong I have done.

Witness,
John H. Curtis

Photo shows facsimile of confession that John H. Curtis signed today, May 17, telling how his contacts with kidnapers of the Lindbergh baby, were creations of his imagination. Curtis, Dean Peacock and Admiral Burrage made several trips in connection with the investigation of the kidnapers, and Curtis now claims that he furnished the clues, and that the other partners believed them to be true.

Attacks Spur Japan to Action in Manchuria

"Bandit outrages," such as that pictured above, in which a Japanese military train, carrying soldiers from the Kirbin front was derailed near Harbin, Manchuria, have caused the Tokyo war office to increase its forces in Manchuria. The Fourteenth Division, which was withdrawn from Shanghai, has arrived at Dairen and is en route to one of the scenes of operations in Manchuria, it was announced. In the accompanying photo, Japanese soldiers are seen peering into the wreckage of the locomotive which drew their train. Derailed, it overturned and exploded.

Accused Camden Official Resigns

City Clerk Patterson Denies He Is Guilty of Shortage, However

CAMDEN.—City Clerk Judson Patterson tendered his resignation and it was accepted by the City Council at a special meeting Monday night. The resignation is effective May 31. Mr. Patterson has been clerk for eight years. In the city audit by W. T. Reynolds, Patterson is charged with a shortage of approximately $4,000.

His lawyer, in presenting Mr. Patterson's resignation, denied all charges of shortage and misappropriation of funds. The lawyer said that the receipt for this amount which was alleged to have been given during the period from October 1, 1927 to June 1, 1928, when Mr. Patterson was acting treasurer, was found and charged against the clerk after the audit was well under way. The clerk waived all formal charges and asked that the hearing be held Monday night. Alderman Thomas I. Thornton voted against the motion to accept the resignation saying that he believed Mr. Patterson innocent. His record as clerk and as county treasurer was praised by Mr. Thornton and also by Alderman M. G. Lide. The council elected Fred Benso as permanent city treasurer to fill the unexpired term of Mrs. Fannie Simmons who was removed from office last week. The successor to Patterson will be named later.

The council adopted a resolution naming a city depository and requiring a surety bond from the city treasurer.

Man Fractures Skull in Fall From Motorcycle

ARKADELPHIA, Ark.—Al Jennings, aged about 30, of Dallas, Tex., who with a companion was attempting to ride a motorcycle from Dallas to New York, is in a critical condition in the Townsend hospital here as the result of having fallen from the speeding vehicle about a mile north of Gurdon Monday afternoon. He landed on his head on the pavement and suffered a fracture of the skull.

N. S. Anderson of Dallas was driving the motorcycle. He said that Jennings was drunk and ascribed the accident to this fact. Passing motorists took Jennings to Gurdon where he received first aid treatment and he then was brought here accompanied by Anderson.

One Dead in New Outbreak of Feud

Nephew of Slain Tennessean Wounded, Crawls to Uncle's Home

COLUMBIA, Tenn.—(AP)—Guns blazed in a feud renewal near here Monday that left one man dead and another seriously wounded.

Gillie Thomason, 36, was shot and killed and his nephew, Flournoy Thomason, 19, was wounded by another nephew of the older man, Jerome Milton Thomason, 17, at the latter's home in the Screamer Hill community. Jerome said the two had been drinking.

After the shooting, Jerome Thomason sent to Mt. Pleasant for officers and surrendered. He was brought to the sheriff's office here but no charges had been placed against him late Monday night.

Jerome told officers that he was working in a field near his home when the two men approached and asked if he had his pistol. When he denied being armed, they held and scathed him, he said, and then went to his house.

There, he said, they threatened to burn the house, and leveled a shotgun at his mother when she warned them away. His mother called to him, Jerome said, and he entered the house through a rear door, secured a pistol and shotgun and warned the two men to leave.

They walked about 50 yards away.

he told officers, and then turned and fired through the front door of the house, the shotgun charge passing over Jerome's head. The youth fired twice with his pistol, and then once with his shotgun, he told officers.

The shotgun charge struck the elder man in the head and shoulders, killing him instantly, and also wounded Flournoy Thomason. The latter crawled to his uncle's home and later was brought to a hospital here.

Gillie Thomason is survived by his wife and four children. Jerome has supported his mother and his young brother and sister since his father, W. J. Thomason, was killed from ambush two years ago.

She—"I warn you, I'm necking against the doctor's orders."

He—"Gosh, are you sick?"

She—"No, but the doctor is my husband."

Doctor—"Sit down sonny, you have shown good manners long enough."

Small Boy—"It ain't good manners, doctor. It's a bill."

Three holdup men got $25,000 from an auto bank the other day. That's about the only way you can get money from banks these days.

Now the big bankers are saying that Congress knows nothing about money. Well, it knew enough to give us a two-billion dollar deficit.

Records of a bond transaction between a broker and Jimmy Walker in New York are missing. But that isn't half so surprising as if they were not.

Guardmen Called Into Ohio Mine Strike Area

COLUMBUS, O. — (AP) — National Guard troops moved back into the eastern Ohio coal fields Tuesday following renewed outbreak among striking miners. The troops, ordered out by Governor George White, returned to areas about Athens, which they recently left as result of temporary cessation of hostilities.

Two hundred and forty men were sent to Nelsonville when Athens county authorities advised the governor they no longer were able to cope with the situation, which flared into serious proportions Tuesday morning when nearly 1,000 pickets stormed two Automobiles bearing workmen to the Lick Run mine of the Manhattan Coal Company.

1 TODAY'S BATHING SUITS ARE PRACTICALLY NOTHING TO BRAG ABOUT.

OH-OH!

LOTTA HOKUM
IT'S NOT THE MONEY, IT'S THE PRINCIPLE OF THE THING!
THANKS TO BUNNY ELLISON LOS ANGELES, CAL.

OUR BOARDING HOUSE

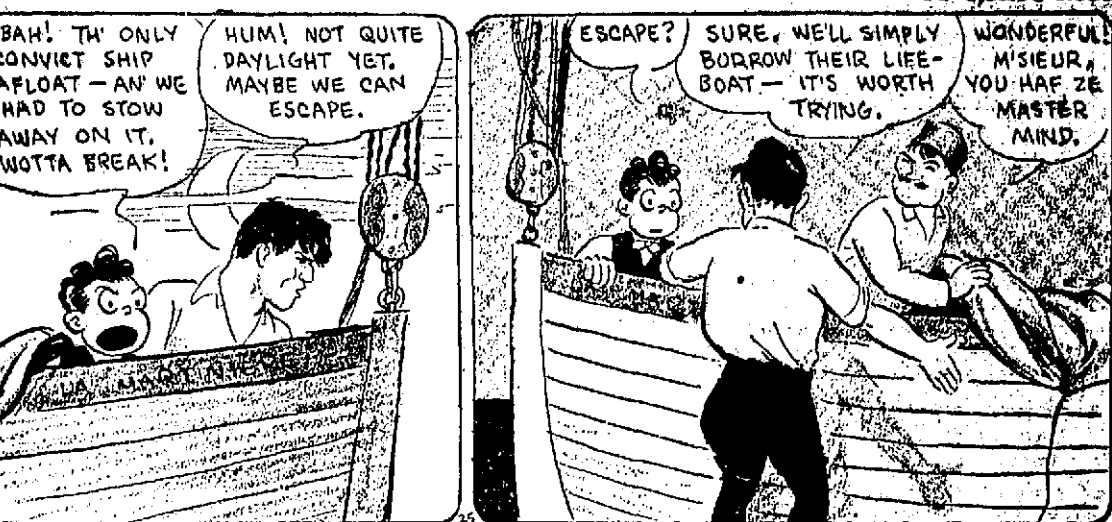

THAT'S AN OLD PHOTO FATHER GAVE ME, SHOWING HIM HOLDING MY BROTHER JAKE AND ME ON HIS KNEES, WHEN WE WERE BROTHER OF LADS — OH, SAY — ABOUT NINE AND ELEVEN! — EGAD, I WAS A BRIGHT LOOKING GOSsoon, WASN'T I? — JUST GRADUATED FROM SCHOOL WHEN THAT WAS TAKEN!

IF YOU HADN'T TOLD ME, I'D SAY IT WAS A VENTRILOQUIST HOLDING TWO DUMMIES ON HIS KNEES! — UM — CAN'T SAY THAT YOUR FATHER LOOKS VERY PROUD

I RECOGNIZE YOUR BROTHER JAKE — JUST REACHING FOR TH' OLD MAN'S WATCH WHEN TH' PHOTO WAS TAKEN! — TH' NATURAL POSE WOULD HAVE BEEN TO LAY TH' BOTH OF YOU OVER YOUR DAD'S KNEES!

AN OLD PHOTOGRAPHIC LAUGH

WASH TUBBS

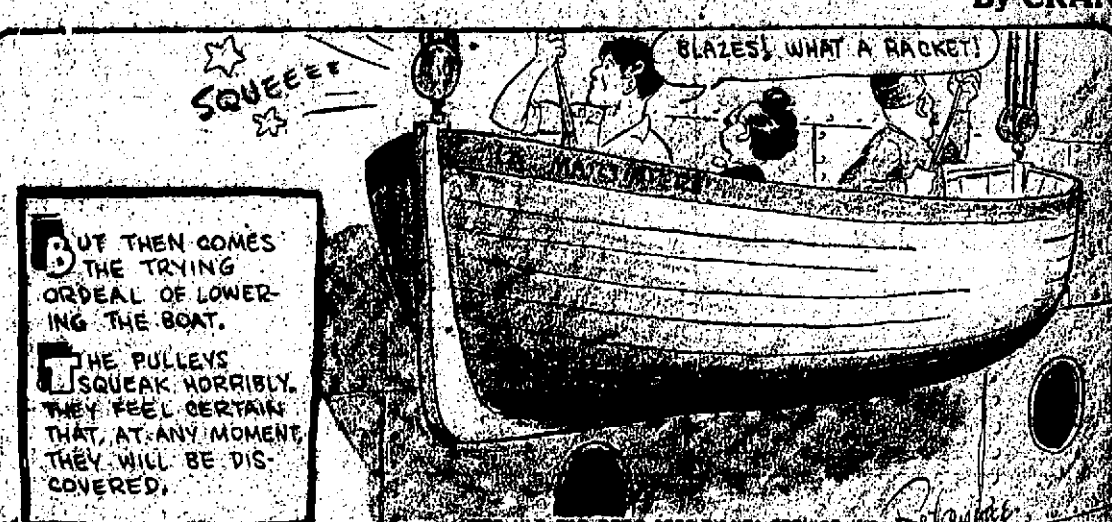

BAH! TH' ONLY CONVICT SHIP AFLOAT — AN' WE HAD TO STOW AWAY ON IT, WOTTA BREAK!

HUM! NOT QUITE DAYLIGHT YET, MAYBE WE CAN ESCAPE.

ESCAPE? SURE, WE'LL SIMPLY BORROW THEIR LIFE-BOAT — IT'S WORTH TRYING.

WONDERFUL! M'SEUR, YOU HAF ZE MASTER MIND.

A Tense Moment!

BUT THEN COMES THE TRYING ORDEAL OF LOWERING THE BOAT. THE PULLEYS SQUEAK HORRIBLY. THEY FEEL CERTAIN THAT, AT ANY MOMENT, THEY WILL BE DISCOVERED.

SQUEEE!

BLAZES! WHAT A RACKET!

SALESMAN SAM

HEY, SAM, TH' HOME OF HAMLET HAM, THE ACTOR, HAS BEEN ROBBED! GO DOWN THERE AN' GET TH' DETAILS!

RIGHTO, CAP!

AN' ALL THEY LEFT BEHIND WAS TH' POOL TABLE, HUM?

YESSIR! TOOK TH' POOL BALLS AND EVERYTHING

Alas! Alack!

AND WOE IS ME! THAT'S THE FIRST TIME I HAVE EVER MISSED A CUE!

BOOTS AND HER BUDDIES

IT'S FUNNY! I TAKE TH' BUNCH BACK HOME — GEE! I KNOW 'EM ALL, SO WELL — EVERY ONE OF 'EM

CORA N'TH' PROFESSOR, N' BABE, N' JIMMY, N' BUS, N' FERDY, N' TIP, N' MERVIE, N' HORACE, N' WILLIE, N' SPENCE —

Isn't That the Way!

I KNOW EACH ONE OF 'EM JUS' LIKE A BOOK — I KNOW WOT THEY'RE THINKIN' STORIE — THEY THINK IT — THEY COULDN'T POOL ME IF THEY TRIED

BUT MY OWN BROTHER — GOOD OL' BILLY, TH' ONE WHO REALLY IS CLOSER T'ME THAN ANYONE ELSE IN ALL TH' WORLD — I HARDLY KNOW AT ALL

FRECKLES AND HIS FRIENDS

FRECKLES FATHER AND MOTHER ARE GREATLY CONCERNED OVER HIS ABSENCE FROM HOME... THEY'VE CALLED THE NEIGHBORS, BUT NONE HAVE SEEN HIM ALL DAY....

YOU DON'T THINK HE AND OSCAR COULD HAVE BEEN KIDNAPPED, DO YOU?

I DON'T THINK SO... HE'S ACTED QUEER EVER SINCE HIS BIG DOG DISAPPEARED...

MARSHALL HAS ASKED EVERYONE IN KRISTOWN, BUT NO LUCK....

NOPE... I HAVEN'T SEEN TWO STRANGER KIDS HERE ANYWHERE

WELL, WE WON'T GIVE UP TILL WE FIND 'EM... SMELL REAL HARD, JUMBO

I KNOW WHAT I THINK WE OUGHTA DO F ASK THAT FORTUNE TELLER OVER ON BLM STREET... SHE COULD TELL US WHERE THEY ARE, MEBBE?

WHAT YOU FIND OVER THAT WAY, WILLIE?

NUTHIN' BUT A COW!

THE OODLES ARE OUT IN FULL STRENGTH, SEARCHING THE COUNTRY SIDE FOR THEIR PALS....

THE NEWFANGLES (Mom'n Pop)

LADYS HAS JUST BROKEN THE NEWS TO J. FULLER AYER, THAT HOMER DITTY WAS A GUEST AT HER SURPRISE PARTY AND THAT, EVEN NOW, AGUSTA IS IN HIS COMPANY

YOU MEAN YOU INVITED THAT GOOD-FOR-NOTHING HOLLOW-HEADED POET HERE TO MEET AGUSTA, WHEN THE REASON I BROUGHT HER WITH ME WAS TO GET HER AWAY FROM HIM?

BUT MR AFFEL SAID TO SATISFY HER EVERY WISH AND SHE WANTED TO SEE HOMER. SHE LOVES HIM AND —

Old Ayer Gets an Earful!

SO YOU'RE BACK OF THIS, AFFEL! AND AFTER TELLING ME SHE'D BE SAFE IN THEIR HANDS! WHERE DID THEY GO?

WAIT TILL I TELL YOU — THEY'VE ELOPED! ISN'T IT WONDERFUL?

ELOPED! EYAH-AH!

Two Advertising Signs to Be Erected

Signs Calling attention to Hope Soon to Appear on Broadway

Two large road signs, advertising Hope are under construction and will soon be erected on the Broadway of America, one on the West and the other on the East side of the city, according to Terral Cornelius and Joe Floyd, who have the work in charge.

The following firms of the city contributed the funds necessary for the building and erection of the signs:

Flunkett-Jarrell Grocer Co., Ladies Specialty Shop, R. L. Patterson, R. M. LaGrone Jr., Co., Reed-Routon & Company, Citizens National Bank, Hope Auto Company, Sanders Grocer Company, Taylor's Cafe, Dr. Don Smith.

Keith Barber Shop, Duffie Hardware Company, Bryant & Company, Ritchie Grocer Company, Wilkerson Oil Company, White & Company, John S. Gibson Drug Co., John P. Cook Drug Company, Patterson's, Webb's News Stand.

Checked Cafe, Jacks News Stand, Haynes Brothers, Rejman's New York Store, Ward & Son, J. C. Penney Company, Scott Stores, Inc., L. C. Burr & Company, Geo. W. Robinson & Co., Bryant's Drug Store, Keith's Jewelry Store, Dr. P. B. Carrigan, Hill's Brownbait Shoe Store, City Bakery, Hope Furniture Company, L. Hollamon, Broadway Service Station, R. V. Stephenson, Figgly Wiggle, A&P Tea Company, First National Bank, "M" System, Hope Confectionery, Moreland Drug Company, Wellman Millinery, Gorman & Gosnell, Capital Barber Shop, Hope Building Material Co., Capital Hotel, Young Chevrolet Company, Hope Star, B. R. Hamlin Motor Company, Loreco, Service Station, Moore & Hawthorne.

Bank in South Dakota Is Robbed by Two Men

HUMBOLDT, S. D.—(AP)—Gaining entrance to the building in the night, two men surprised an assistant cashier of the Bank of Humboldt early Monday, forced him to open the vault, bound him with wire and then fled with about $5000.

It's a Sure Sign of Several Things!

Sign of the time, perhaps, is this unusual traffic post at Castine, Me. Economically combining seven signs in one, it points out to motorists two streets, an historic fort, a lighthouse, and a golf club, and warns of a bad corner and a speed limit.

Later Than Ever

A man brought a large mantel clock, one of the kind that strikes the hours and half hours.

One night he was awakened by the striking of the clock. Something had gone wrong with the mechanism, and the chimes, instead of stopping with the usual 12, kept right on going. The farmer counted them, and got up to 102. Then he awakened his wife: "Mary, got up. It's after than I've ever it known to be before!"—Old Hickory Smoke.

Some Legume Crop Should Follow Oats

Cow Peas Are Most Common for Planting After Oat Harvest

During this period of depression when money crops are selling for a very low price, farmers are much interested in planting soil improving crops, especially when the seed is not expensive. One of the most convenient places for growing a legume crop is the planting of cowpeas after cutting a crop of oats. One of the good features about growing oats or other small grains is that the grain is cut in time to grow a crop of cowpeas. Sometimes soybeans are planted after oats but cowpeas are better adapted to this purpose because cowpeas stand later planting than soybeans. Experiments which have been conducted by the Arkansas Experiment Station, College of Agriculture, University of Arkansas, show the fertilizing value of cowpeas following oats. The land on which these tests have been conducted grows oats one year and corn the next. Part of the land grows cowpeas after the oats and part has nothing planted after the oats. Part of the cowpeas are cut for hay and part are plowed under.

Cowpeas following oats and plowed under have increased the yield of corn about 13 bushels per acre. When cowpeas following oats were cut off for hay the corn yield the following year was increased about 7 bushels per acre, states D. J. Bureson, Extension agronomist, University of Arkansas College of Agriculture. It should be noted that cowpeas when cut for hay do not improve the soil as much as when the crop is plowed under. This is true of all legume crops. However, if the crop is grazed by livestock most of the fertility is left on the land in the form of manure. Also when cowpea seed are picked and the remainder of the crop plowed under most of the fertility is left on the land.

Samuel Vaucalin, Baldwin locomotive chairman, says the United States "is in clover." That may be true, but you can't get anything for clover these days.

New Jersey Knits Police Agencies in Lindbergh Case

Police activities in the Lindbergh case were being co-ordinated under the direction of Col. H. Norman Schwarzkopf (seated, at right), New Jersey state police head, when this conference was called at Trenton, N. J., by Governor A. Harry Moore (seated, in center). At the New Jersey governor's right is Prosecutor Erwin Marshall of Mercer County. Standing, left to right, are Prosecutor Anthony Hauck Jr., of Hunterdon County; Inspector Harry Walsh of Jersey City police; Attorney General William A. Stevens; and Assistant Attorney General Joseph Lanigan.

Four From County Finish at Ouachita

Miss Louise Whitfield Cannon, of Hope, Is Honor Graduate

Three students from Hope, a fourth from McCaskill, this county, and a fifth from Lewisville, LaFayette county, were among the senior class graduated by Ouachita college at Arkadelphia Monday.

Miss Louise Whitfield Cannon, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. G. E. Cannon, was graduated with cum laude honors, the program being attended by her parents and her brother, Curtis Cannon. Miss Ellen Carrington and Harry Hino were the other Hope graduates. Miss Maxine Sevodge, of McCaskill, completed the graduating list from Hempstead county; while Troy Wheeler was a Lewisville senior who received his degree.

Benjamin Haynes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gus Haynes of Hope, was among the Reserve Officers' Training Corps cadets who received their commissions as second lieutenants in the United States Army Reserve Corps.

Fares Cut Half

WASHINGTON.—Airplane passenger rates have dropped about one-half under the rates in effect two years ago, the Aeronautics Branch of the U. S. Department of Commerce reports. The average rate per mile at present is 6.2 cents. This is 7 per cent lower than the fare in effect at the beginning of the year.

Wrong Guesses on Tony Make Indians' Row Hard

CLEVELAND.—(AP)—Two wrong guesses, and both relating to Tony Lazzera of the Yankees, made Cleveland's Indians glad to get back west after their first eastern invasion this year.

Manager Joe McCarthy guessed that Lazzera was through and offered him to the Indians. That was wrong guess No. 1. Manager Roger Peckinpaugh guessed that Lazzera was so near through he was not worth the price. That was wrong guess No. 2.

In their first stay at New York the Indians were beaten four times in four games and Lazzera contributed largely to each defeat.

Senator Borah says the gold dollar is no longer an honest one. Maybe that's why it's in hiding.

Off Water for 66 Years, Civil War Veteran Dies

WATERTOWN, Wis.—(AP)—Henry Bassinger, 101, Civil war veteran, who claimed he had not tasted water for 66 years, is dead. His story was that he vowed during the Civil war never to drink water again when he found that a bucket full he got from a spring had been polluted by the bodies of dead animals. Thereafter he said he confined his drinking to beer, wines, milk, buttermilk and soft drinks.

Germany's High Dog Halves Canine Population

BERLIN.—(AP)—Dogs are being cut out of existence in Germany. Statistics show that their stock changed from the "best friend man" to a "luxury." Berlin's population decreased from 300,000 in 1917 to 155,543, and a similar decrease noted in other cities. Dog licenses range from $10 but watch-dogs are exempt from tax.

JUNE WAS BELIEVED TO BE A LUCKY MONTH FOR MARRIAGE AS FAR BACK AS THE EARLY ROMAN DAYS.

The ROSE IS THE FLOWER OF JUNE, AND THE MOONSTONE IS THE GEM. BOTH ARE CONSIDERED LUCK BRINGERS IN MATTERS OF LOVE.

IN TIBET PARENTS SELECT THE GROOM AND THE WEDDING DAY FOR THEIR DAUGHTER, WITHOUT HER KNOWLEDGE OR CONSENT. THE SURPRISE IS SPRUNG ON HER AT THE LAST MOMENT.

AMELIA EARTHART, whose non-stop solo flight across the Atlantic in 15 hours and 39 minutes, broke all time records for trans-Atlantic crossings. She used "Standard" products—Stanavo Aviation Gasoline and Stanavo Aviation Engine Oil.

She Needed Everything

... She Had Everything

It takes plenty of flying skill to solo across the Atlantic. But that's only part. It takes good weather, good judgement, good instruments, courage, ability, training. And it takes an adequate supply of fuel and oil that you know you can depend on. A trans-Atlantic flight takes everything

TAKE a tip from Amelia Earhart.

You can't sit on top of the world unless you've got everything.

Real gasoline must have everything, too. Quick starting is not enough. High octane rating (anti-knock) is not enough. Mileage is not enough.

If your car bucks and stalls in hot weather and heavy traffic, if you're paying needless repair bills for cleaning valves or carbon jobs, you're not getting your money's worth. You're paying twice for your gasoline. Once at the pump and again at the repair shop.

1932 gasoline must have everything. "Standard" 1932 gasoline has everything.

Quick starting for traffic jams. Smooth and silent power when you need it. Added miles of low cost, trouble free transportation. Read the list at the left. Check it. It spells savings. A sweet engine.

Next time you buy gasoline—buy "Standard."

It has everything a real gasoline should have.

"STANDARD" HAS EVERYTHING!

Check it!

- ✓ CARBON-LESS—Spark plugs, pistons, cylinders and valves stay clean. Saves repair bills.
- ✓ GUM-LESS—No clogged manifolds—no sticky valves. Cuts repair bills.
- ✓ SULPHUR-LESS—No corrosion. Saves repair bills.
- ✓ ANTI-KNOCK—Extra power, less noise, less upkeep cost through reduced hammering of pistons and bearings. Cuts repair bills.
- ✓ QUICK-STARTING—Minimum use of choke—quick power and pick-up—less contamination of crankcase oil.
- ✓ "BUBBLE-FREE"—No stalling and bucking from vapor bubbles in gas line and carburetor—even, steady flow of power in the hottest motor.
- ✓ ODOR-LESS—Refined "sweet"—no disagreeable smells.
- ✓ CRYSTAL CLEAR—Made clear stays clear—a guarantee of perfect cleanliness. Saves money.
- ✓ UNIFORM—Same quality and results, always, everywhere. Always more miles for your money.
